

FIRE the GRID II

What We Know

On July 17th 2007 at 11:11 GMT, human beings from every corner of the world participated in the largest mass meditation the earth has ever seen. A wonderful accomplishment in itself but more so seeing as how the entire event transpired. With but an initial email; a website designed and created completely benevolently; three willing participants and instructions from the Divine, Fire the Grid expanded with the principles of purity of intention, and as more like-minded humans united with us in this undertaking, the website grew to encompass 14 languages and millions upon millions of visitors.

We received many thousands of incredible testimonials sharing your experiences from that momentous day. When people aside from what I have been told written by those of you answer different ways. These accounts are your words, not to mention a some of what happened on July the fact that many of you experientially in keeping with the nature often ask me "what happened?", by my Light friends, the stories that question inherently in many are precious to me because they valuable historical document of 17, 2007. Of particular interest is enced similar phenomena, perof what we accomplished collec-

We are finally ready to proceed and share the details of what comes next. I will endeavour to share all that I know about what we accomplished in July 2007 and the enormous impact we, as a race, had on our planet.

I begin with a little background information regarding what we represent to the earth energetically. We have been and were intended to be lightning rods for the planet. We were the conduit between the earth and the Great Divine. We were put upon this planet to navigate, explore and learn. Our true purpose was to experience. Experience all with joy and then be grateful for the experience. We were left with instructions as to how to maintain our connection to Source. This connection was paramount to us as it was the way in which we would charge our eternal energy system. Why would that be important to us? Well, a healthy energy system would make a happy healthy human; a healthy energy system allows for a fuller richer earthly experience. These instructions were intended for us to maintain a loving joyful connection with our Source, all the while experiencing fully what being in form on earth provides.

Over time and with the knowledge of free will, humans began to exchange these instructions left to maintain our energy fields with instructions from various different human directors. Humans developed a sense of power and many chose to follow paths that exchanged power as the energy of choice. We as a race began to lose the ideas around energy that worked for us and kept us closely connected to our Source. In this energy we knew we were loved and a piece of a larger and most loving Source. This knowledge brought us joy and contentment. As we lost this true connection so we lost the ability to be a conduit for this energy. We have been in a very low energy situation for far too long.

When we collectively chose to Fire the Grid, we as a group of humans charged our conduit ability and facilitated the charging of many other conduits around you. The charge of one true believer facilitated a thousand others whose faith was not so sure. Truth touched those on the fence and there was a great awakening; millions of people from over 92 countries. I was told to hold the four corners of the world and I believe we did that and more. During the last few weeks of FTG we had a quarter of the website, and millions of hits. I countless people read our site that was only in the last 6 weeks.

The first phase of Fire the Grid race to our own true potential what a powerful impact we had the planet as Princeton University From my layman point of view, we move energy and create good energy, did just that. We actually made Princeton's measuring device record a measurement. Just imagine, we actually collectively made that device record a measurement using only our minds. I am excited by that and I hope you see what that means for us as a race, now understanding the capabilities of using our energy together to create the earth we desire.

(III pillars) was to awaken us as a beauty and joy. It also showed us collectively on the energy level of shows in their study of the event. as a group of humans intending to move energy and create good energy, did just that. We actually made Princeton's measuring device record a measurement. Just imagine, we actually collectively made that device record a measurement using only our minds. I am excited by that and I hope you see what that means for us as a race, now understanding the capabilities of using our energy together to create the earth we desire.

In short, phase one of our intention project was a huge success! We charged the grid and collectively we were very powerful energy. I want you to take a moment and think of that right now. You were part of an enormous event to spark the light in all of us, so we can consciously choose at this very moment what kind of world we desire for our future. We as a race are ready to come together to create the world we know is truly possible.

So where do we find ourselves now?

The grid is well lit, meaning that there are more humans awake and aware than ever before in the history of our time here on earth. It means we have many conduits working at their maximum level to facilitate great change. It means that we no longer have to live in the world that was but can create the world we choose. It means there are enough of us willing and ready to assist in global change. We know what was created from nothing in FTG. We see how many of us there actually are. People from all over the world are ready, together.

It is important that each and every one of you who reads these words understands that you are not alone; not alone in your desire for a better world, not alone as one who desires more of their earthly experiences, not alone in your desire for all humans to experience joy, love, comfort and peace and not alone in this energy field that surrounds the planet. We collectively make up that energy field, our energy as well as the energy of the planet. Our contribution has been very weak but this FTG event has changed all that. There are enough of us to charge every positive thought possible. Each one of these thoughts will then be inserted into the energy of the planet. Then we collectively nurture these thoughts and ideas.

This is how we begin...

The Plan

Fire the Grid is all about waking conscious individual cells of not only in itself, but for others as raising your own frequency, find-gratitude, As each of our fields lit tapped into the energy system of the planet, essentially raising our hands and saying "I'm here". My beings have told me conclusively that they can see us now and that there are enough of us.

humanity up so that we become light. Each cell of light radiates well. Fire the Grid III was about ing that moment of joy and giving up, we plugged into the grid and

The second phase is called Fire the Grid II, and it is about using the power of "I" to unite once again to become "WE". Just as with the first event, there is a corresponding date and time which have been given to me by my Light Beings. Much has transpired since that momentous day, and roughly 24 months later, there will again be incredibly powerful energy available for all humans to utilize on a new date. The energy I speak of is our own love energy we used on the first FTG event.

Let me explain.

On July 17th 2007 at 11:11 GMT, a Cosmic opening rained down a living, highly charged force full of awakening potential. It was infused with Source energy and it was available to all humans who wished to draw it to them. We are conduits, antennas if you will, and we accepted this energy, drew it into us, passing it through us into the water system in the earth below us. At the same time, the love energy of acceptance and joy and gratitude that we've nurtured and stored while the energy passed through us also passed through us into the water. The water system then took that energy throughout the planet and began a healing. It was to flow through the planet for a year and then to travel to Brazil where it is housed in a crystal bed under Brazil. Crystal is alive, an entity in itself and could even house one of us. This crystal bed has been housing the energy since July 17th 2008. It has been pulsating out its potential from its resting place under Brazil and this July, it will be ready to be released. This energy simply cannot stay here as there is an imbalance, so it must return to Source. As we all will someday. There is balance in everything.

See it, believe it then create it.

The energy of Fire the Grid is ready to go home and the skies are open for the delivery. We can once again draw the energy of the day through us and pass it onward to Creation. This is the energy of pure potential, pure love, pure abundance and of pure creative ability. This is the united energy of millions of humans concentrating on one purpose for one hour as one mind. This is very powerful manifesting ability.

I have been told to unite humanity will sit in contemplation of the of earthly creation with the high-meditation, prayer, thought, your choosing to manifest the Imagine millions of humans sitting, a world of equality of balance of harmony and joy. We will gather for one hour and hold the vision of a world fed, a world of abundance for all, a world of joyful experiences. This world holds pure potential for all humans.

ty again for one hour of time. We world that will be. This is an hour est degree of pure intention. Use music or intention - any tool of world we so desire into being. taking a stand for something better;

With this in mind, set about seeing in your mind what that world looks like, see green fields, beautiful clear rivers and clean air. Now see abundance for everyone, see people smiling, happy, well fed, well cared for. See humans sharing and cooperating. What does that look like you ask? Simply imagine it. Really see it in your mind. The imagination is the paintbrush of our creations. See it here during this very special energy time. See it here and dream it into being. We will collectively see it and dream it into being. Remember you are not alone, there are millions of us intending this new world into place.

Now put details into your dream, see all of the beauty you desire. Add color and delight. The more detailed your dream, the more tangible we make our intention. See the people of the world living in harmony not only with each other but with the planet itself. See engineering taking a turn to work with nature for the betterment of both all humanity and the earth itself, working together for the betterment of all. People all sharing in a plan to challenge the old ideas and incorporate new, better, healthier ideas. The winds of change can be directed and this is our opportunity to consciously choose that direction. It is the time of a great gathering, a uniting of minds to create a better way, a way without exclusion. We can change the world. It begins with our hearts and minds.

This energy is available for you on July 28, 2009 at 19:19 Rio di Janeiro time — (check website for your local time) — It will be accessible all day but complete alignment for the best use of this energy will be at the given time, and last one hour.

If the key component to the first FTG was joy and gratitude, then the main components to attend to during the second phase are to be present and accountable for who you are and your unique role in the cosmos. Visualize peace and abundance for all. This is the time we see the world we choose to live in. See it in all its splendour; you must see even that which you could not believe to be true. Imagine in your mind a community sharing and caring for all. Imagine a world of plenty using systems sustainable coexistence with human-sity. See peoples' needs and desires cooperating in all so that we all look like? See the people in your children of the world in comfort A cooperative planet sharing the including our great mother earth. ready to change the world from this movement, we are just clear-way.

Fire the Grid is a movement for change, and it comes from a place of love and integrity. It demonstrates how many we are and that there is great strength in numbers. It brings a united front for those who know that we can make a difference in this world. True change begins with each individual becoming accountable, not only for what is happening now but what will happen in the future. Embrace the “I am” and we will create the “We can” to follow through with the highest intention to create a better world. Remember who you truly are as an individual: a Divine piece of our Creator. And when you align with others, you become part of a collective of very powerful creators. There are many changes coming for this world. The energy we hold as a collective unit will influence the outcome of those changes, but before we manifest more for ourselves we must put time and energy into manifesting a healthy planet and a healthy people so that there will be something here to enjoy in our future.

When you're in joy, you create high vibration. When you create high vibration, we create a high vibration in the world. And there will be ease in the transition. It's just a linear kind of rolling. The Light Beings have instructed that we must unite in our similarities not dissolve in our differences. They say to find the differences fascinating. Unite in the knowing that there is more than meets the eye. Know that you can influence this time and space and then do so. Put forward your best foot, lay the plan of your intention then tend your garden. There are many projects where we can tend our garden. They will show themselves. It is up to each individual to find the way to incorporate living with purity of intention everyday.

To summarize, what we will do on July 28, 2009 at 19:19 Rio di Janeiro time — (check website for your local time) — is unite as one, sharing our purest intention to create a new world. As each of us as individuals see the earth in its true potential, collectively we will begin to create a world with untold possibilities. Hold that intention for an hour. During that time, the energy stored in the crystal beds under Brazil will be released and we will allow that energy to pass through us on its way back to Source.

The energy of Fire the Grid is ready to go back home. Please join us on July 28, 2009 at 19:19 Rio di Janeiro time — (check website for your local time) — for Fire the Grid II as we choose consciously to be present and accountable in the energetic creation of a new world.

FAQ

Q: What happened on July, 17, 2007?

A: As a cosmic opening rained down incredible energy on the earth, the grid surrounding the earth was charged as millions of people throughout the world sent their intent to the universe that they wished to "Be Defined" as humans desiring positive change on our planet. This energy was collected into the earth's water system and after one year of circulating around the earth, it has been resting since July 28, 2008 in crystal beds underneath Brazil.

Q: Why is the energy being stored in the crystal beds?

A: Crystals are alive, an entity unto themselves and are used everywhere to store energy. The crystals act as an amplifier, raising the frequency of the housed energy so that it might return to the skies on July 28, 2009 when we Fire the Grid at 19:19 Rio de Janeiro time.

Q: What did people experience when they participated in FTG?

A: Thousands upon thousands of incredible testimonials documenting how people spent the hour of the FTG III event describe the experience of July 17, 2007 in their own words.

Q: What is the significance of the stone pillars, and why are there now two instead of three stones?

A: The stones are a wake up code, a symbol that when you saw it, a piece of you felt, "There's truth here". Fire the Grid III contained 3 pillars and a capstone, FTG II has 2 pillars and a capstone.

What is the gold object behind the stones in FTG II?

A: This is a triskel, and when they showed it to me it was as if somebody cut this out of gold and honed into a sickle and ground it so it's sharp. It was made of liquid light and spinning, representing our forward motion. The triskel is cutting into the future.

Q: What do the two different
